SA manufacturers 'get opportunity to make big quantities of basic shoe for U.S'

Durban, KZN, SA - South African footwear manufacturers may be offered the opportunity to make very big quantities of basic shoes for the U.S, according to Trade Minister Ebrahim Patel.

Patel was speaking to the media in Durban on Wednesday, August 21, during the launch of the Durban Fashion Fair, which, which have textile experts and are also import reactive, recorded, in SAFLIA's AGM on Thursday last week.

Patel said that the country's textile and clothing industry was in a "very good place" and that it was ready to take advantage of opportunities that African Growth and Opportunity Act (AGOA) presents. AGOA is a piece of legislation with the potential impact.
